

TOURISTS FLOCK TO C. OF C. FOR TIPS ON ROADS

Special Features Added to Chamber Road Service Bureau; Close Check Kept On All Main Highways.

Hundreds of automobile tourists are flocking into Albuquerque daily. At times the Chamber of Commerce tourist bureau has been swamped with tourists seeking road data and information about places of particular interest in this vicinity.

The tourist bureau is well equipped this year for giving all types of information, having several regular and reliable sources of road reports coming in at all times. Among the most important of the state road reports is the state highway department patrol reports, which cover many of the main roads and are received from the patrols three times each week. Regular garage reports are received from east and west towns in New Mexico and Arizona and many of the chambers of commerce also file regular road data. All tourists who register at the chamber are questioned regarding roads for the benefit of those who arrive later and are going in the direction from which the former tourist came.

Roads throughout the state are generally fair to good, according to the reports received yesterday. The rains have stopped in Kansas and the main roads east and west in that state are now drying rapidly. Tourists report making good time throughout the state.

The tourist auto camps, especially the Albuquerque Open Air Hotel, on North Fourth street, have been crowded and the city hotels report a capacity number of guests each day.

JUDGE BATTERY BY SERVICE IT RENDERS

"Few motorists seem to realize the vast difference in batteries," according to Mr. Harold Galer, of the local Vesta Battery Station.

"As long as a battery will turn the motor over they seem to think that is all that is necessary. But," continued Mr. Galer, "the length of service is what counts. In this battery differ."

"In Vesta Batteries, for example, there are four patented features which insure longer life. These features are inside the battery where they cannot be seen unless the battery is opened, but they represent a distinct advance in battery construction."

"We are always glad to show these features to motorists because we can use them continually in the repair of other makes of batteries, and we know from experience that they result in longer life and better service."

FOREST SERVICE APPEALS FOR SOLDIERS TO HELP FIGHT FIRE RAGING IN GILA TIMBER LANDS

High Winds Lash Whitewater Canyon Fire Over Thousands of Acres; Soldiers May Save Situation; Equipment Being Rushed to Scene; Loss Will Be Tremendous.

With every available man in the vicinity at work fighting the terrific forest fire which is blazing unchecked in the Whitewater canyon district of the Gila national forest, officials of the district forest service appealed yesterday to military authorities for a contingent of at least 100 soldiers to assist in the work.

More than 100 men are now fighting the colossal blaze which is nearing 10,000 acre proportions and was traveling rapidly yesterday under a high wind. Aldo Leopold, assistant district forester, who has had charge of the successful fire fighting operations at Johnson canyon in the Datil forest, has been transferred to the Whitewater district and will take charge of the work there.

Arrangements for soldiers to assist were not completed yesterday, the commandant at Fort Bliss stating that special plans would first have to be made for taking care of the expense as the post was already short of funds. If the soldiers are supplied, it is possible that most of them will come from the Columbus district.

Additional supplies, including tools, automobiles and food were sent yesterday to Mogollon, which is about 15 miles north of the fire. Silver City, 75 miles southwest of the fire, will be used as the main base of supplies.

The fire is destroying a magnificent stand of heavy Douglas fir. The ground is rough, hampering operations, and is very heavily covered with underbrush.

The fire fighting operation has already cost the forest service $5,000 and indicates that the expense has scarcely started especially if the night winds continue.

Indications are that other fires in the state have been placed under control and that no new ones of serious size have started. On the Apache forest in Arizona, just beyond the state line, a large fire has been reported as starting Friday night in the Blue mountain district.

LIVESTOCK AND WILD GAME SEEKING SAFETY

Silver City, N. M., June 17.—Burning fiercely on a ten-mile front, the Gila forest fire in the Mogollons today showed no signs of being brought under control and hope of curbing the flames now depends entirely on a reversal of the wind or a heavy rain.

The fire is devastating the finest stand of big timber in the state. Additional crews of men, pressed into service here today, were rushed in motor trucks to the scene of the fire to relieve men exhausted by almost a week of continual fire fighting.

Several forest home-steads have been wiped out and livestock and wild game is fleeing to escape the flames. All campers and fishing parties have escaped from the fire zone in safety.

Because of the extremely mountainous country, it is very difficult to get supplies to the fire fighters.

Three other fires on the Gila forest are still burning, but are reported this evening to be under control.

GRAND JURY RETURNS SEVERAL INDICTMENTS

Phoenix, Ariz., June 17.—Several indictments were returned late today by a special county grand jury which is inquiring into recent activities here of the Ku Klux Klan. Identity of those named and the nature of the charges were not divulged. The inquisitorial body has been in session a week and has heard about thirty-five witnesses, including Governor Campbell and Secretary of State Ernest R. Hall. The investigation will be resumed Monday.

Another development, outside the convention, was the laying of plans by federation leaders to have the convention moved across the Ohio river one day next week to Newport, Ky., where a strike at a Newport rolling mill has been on since last October. Interest attached to the plans because the strike involving 2,000 men has been marked by rioting and bloodshed, and the issuance of court injunctions against the strikers. Plans for the meeting provide for Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, to address a mass meeting, and for the delegates visiting houses that were damaged during the strike disorders.

Joint Strike Action. The convention session today was marked by the arrival of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who announced "absolutely and unequivocally" that he would not be a candidate against Mr. Gompers for president of the federation. Mr. Lewis was the unsuccessful contestant against Mr. Gompers last year. He also told the convention that he and other leaders in the miners' strike would meet with the rail union chiefs next Tuesday night to consider joint strike action in the threatened rail walkout.

Canuto A. Vargas, fraternal delegate from the Mexican Federation of Labor, told the convention that the labor movement was developing in Mexico along lines similar to the American movement. He asserted that "industrial barons" had circulated false reports that Mexican laborers were bolsheviks or communists.

LEWIS WILL NOT OPPOSE GOMPERS FOR PRESIDENCY

A. F. of L. Convention Criticizes Supreme Court; Will Meet Annually in October in the Future.

(By The Associated Press.) Cincinnati, June 17 (By The Associated Press).—Observing a Saturday half holiday, the American Federation of Labor convention here today tolled through a short session with the principal business being an overwhelming decision to change the convention date from June to October. Numerous other changes in the federation's constitution also were considered, but none was adopted.

The session also was marked by the federation's executive council, composed of its eleven officers, submitting the report condemning the supreme court decision in the Coronado coal case which held labor unions liable for damages under the Sherman anti-trust act. No remedy was suggested for over-coming the decision, a special policy committee having been named for this purpose.

Will Consult Lawyers. The committee, which is headed by R. M. Lowell, president of the railway employees' department of the federation, meeting after the convention adjournment, decided to call in a number of lawyers for advice. The council report on the Coronado decision declared that farmers' co-operative societies were affected by the decision as well as labor unions.

Another development, outside the convention, was the laying of plans by federation leaders to have the convention moved across the Ohio river one day next week to Newport, Ky., where a strike at a Newport rolling mill has been on since last October. Interest attached to the plans because the strike involving 2,000 men has been marked by rioting and bloodshed, and the issuance of court injunctions against the strikers. ## DAUGHTER OF COLONEL W. J. BRYAN COMING HERE TO CHAUTAUQUA

Redpath - Horner Chautauquas consider themselves very fortunate in having been able to make an exclusive Chautauqua contract with Ruth Bryan Owen.

Miss Owen is famous entirely in her own right and does not need to depend in any way upon the great reputation of her father, W. J. Bryan.

She is one of the most eloquent women on the platform. By all odds, she is the most eloquent that the writer of this story has ever heard.

Her lecture, "Modern Arabian Nights," is as fascinating as those stories that have delighted us all our lives.

It is the resume of her experiences in the West Indies, in London, in Egypt, in Palestine, as well as a trip around the world. She has the humor, the ease and the delightful narrative style of her father. She has a wonderful voice which she never finds occasion to force.

She has the mastery of a man with the grace and sweetness of the most feminine creature in the world. Ruth Bryan Owen's lecture will mark one of the high points of the 1922 program.

However, it must not be supposed that the mission of Ruth Bryan Owen is simply to entertain or to delight her hearers with her most unique and interesting experiences.

Mrs. Owen has a decided mission force and of definite value. She makes one of the most sensible and logical arguments for world peace that has been presented on the Chautauqua platform.
